

CHM 107 : Chemistry in the Environment and Everyday Living

CHM 107 examines the role of chemistry in everyday life and in the environment, and is intended for students not pursuing scientific or engineering majors. Chemical principles are introduced to the extent necessary for understanding of issues.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

None