

STA 211 : Probability and Statistics

STA 211 introduces the basics of probability and statistics as used in sciences. It covers introduction to probability, random variables, some common probability distributions, random vectors, sample statistics, regression, and applications in experimental sciences.

Credits 3

Prerequisite Courses

MAT 116