

4.8 Electronic Records, E-mail, and Web Records

Records created, managed, and stored in electronic format constitute the majority of information at Alfaisal University. While this Records Retention Policy applies to all records, regardless of format, additional detailed information on the management, storage, and disposition of electronic records will be forthcoming.