

MGT 380 : Employee Relations & Engagement

This course introduces students to the various issues involved in the creation of productive and meaningful employee-employer relationships. It covers a wide range of concepts including employee relationship principles and models, local and regional labor law, employee engagement and participation, conflict management, grievance handling, and disciplinary procedures.

Credits 3

Core Requirement

BEC

Prerequisite Courses

MGT 230