

OPM 425 : Special Topics in Operations Management

A survey course of selected topics in operations management in order to supplement available offerings. In this course, important concepts and the state-of-the-art analytical techniques essential for managing the operations of any organization are covered. In particular, topics such as MRP and ERP, scheduling, management of waiting lines, location planning, and analysis.

Credits 3

Core Requirement

MCC

Prerequisite Courses

OPM 340